April 29, 1607

. "Shortly after, Captain Newport sailed for England, never to return to Jamestown."

That is the story according to history; however, in the year 1952, Captain Gabriel Archer Christopher Newport made an imaginary voyage to the New World.

Having passed between the famous capes on which he first landed, he sailed around the peninsula, which was much changed from the one he knew long ago, and viewed many famous landmarks of today.

We wish to present Newport News High School as one aspect of the scene which he encountered on this imagined return.

The Men and Women Who

Not Only Supervise

DR. R. O. NELSON

IN CHARGE of supervision are Dr. R. O. Nelson, superintendent, and the School Board, who, during the past year, have continued their program of general improvement both in the physical and psychological environment of the pupils.

MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD are: Seated: Mrs. George R. Dabney, assistant clerk; Mr. Alan Haffman, Mrs. Jahn E. Kritzer, Mr. Darsey Pleasants, chairman. Standing: Mr. Phillip Murray, Dr. H. G. Langaker, Dr. Nelson, Mr. S. D. Green, clerk.

And Administer

RESPONSIBILITIES are quietly and efficiently executed by Mr. George J. McIntosh, principal. As he carries out regulations in the traditional manner and provides the best opportunities for student development, Mr. McIntosh exerts a profound influence on all phases of school life.

MR. GEORGE J. McINTOSH

MISS ETHEL GILDERSLEEVE AND MR. T. O. KEESEE

SCHEDULING classes is only one of the problems which Miss Ethel Gildersleeve, dean of girls, and Mr. T. O. Keese, assistant principal, help the young people of our school to solve. They are constantly confronted with matters of school activity from disciplinary measures to student government.

And Guide

MISS MILDRED KELLY AND MISS RUTH FOLKMAN

PARENTS SHARE in the program of the school through the Parent-Teacher Association. Under the direction of Mrs. C. B. Coe, president, the aim of the association this year has been to understand the high school student as a citizen of his high school and community with emphasis on his willingness to accept responsibility and his ability to render efficient service. Participants in the program have been parents, teachers, students, and laymen.

People Who Are Free

To Learn Their Native Language

KEEP YOUR EYE on these English students; for under the expert guidance of Miss Annye B. Burbank, they will learn their language and literature so well that they may be tomorrow's teachers.

"GAIE PARISIENNE am I," says Barbara Peach, as she mimics a French paper doll. All French students learn not only grammar but also French life and customs.

And Foreign Ones,

"HA! HA!" You are wrong," laughs Burton Fowler, as he shows Darlene Mitchell a mistake in her lesson. These Spanish enthusiasts get regular drill in the language and traditions from "South of the Border."

NO, OUR SCHOOL has not run out of books. These students are just examining some model Roman scrolls. Studying these things as well as ablatives and gerundives gives our boys and girls a broader understanding of the ancient language.

To Voice Opinions

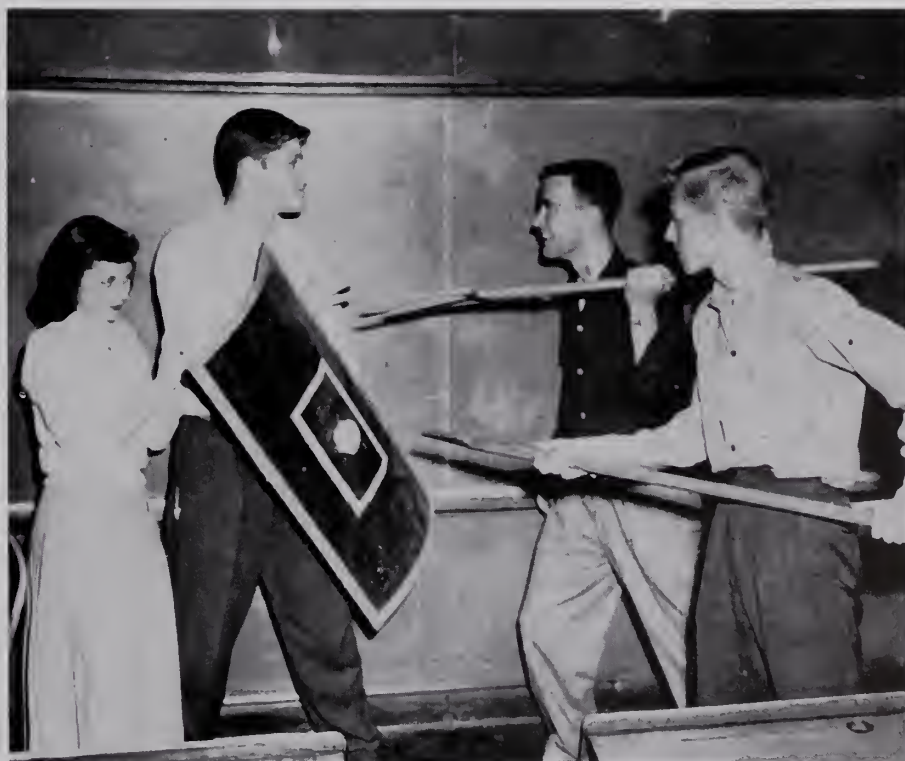

MAYBE KIM FERSON is denouncing the present administration; but no matter what she vows, she will keep her audience's attention after her course in speech. These classes are designed to help the students speak in public and be more at ease with their language.

ACTING IS only one part of a course in drama. Rules of production, direction, make-up, and the various details of the dramatic art are taught to the students through experience. But in order that they may thoroughly understand the subject, they are required to discuss it as these students are doing now.

In Civic Matters,

"WE'RE ON OUR WAY," say Sondra Erlach, Harry Simpson, and Joe Robertson, as they start out on a visit to the court house to see for themselves exactly how their local government operates.

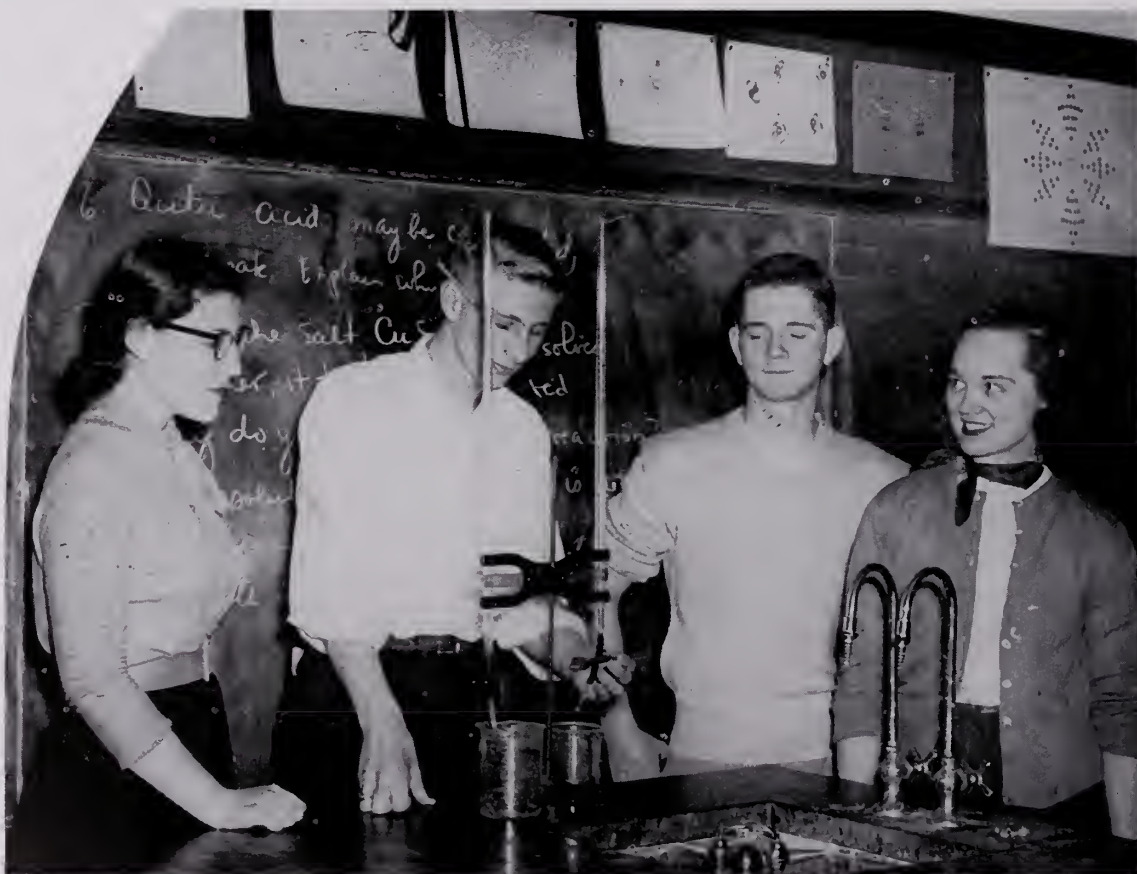

JANE PIERCE need never fear; for the protective arm of Larry Armstrong will defend her from fierce pursuers. Ancient history is brought to life as these pupils examine and pretend to use models of ancient weapons.

To Discover the Secrets of Nature

THE FANTASTIC GROWTH of a tiny seed into a flourishing plant is observed by Joyce Vanni, Darling Anderson, and Sidney Barham through examining enlarged reproductions.

MISS PATSY DALE directs chemistry students as they analyze an inorganic solution. The fundamentals of chemistry are taught the students through actual experimentation in addition to studying facts.

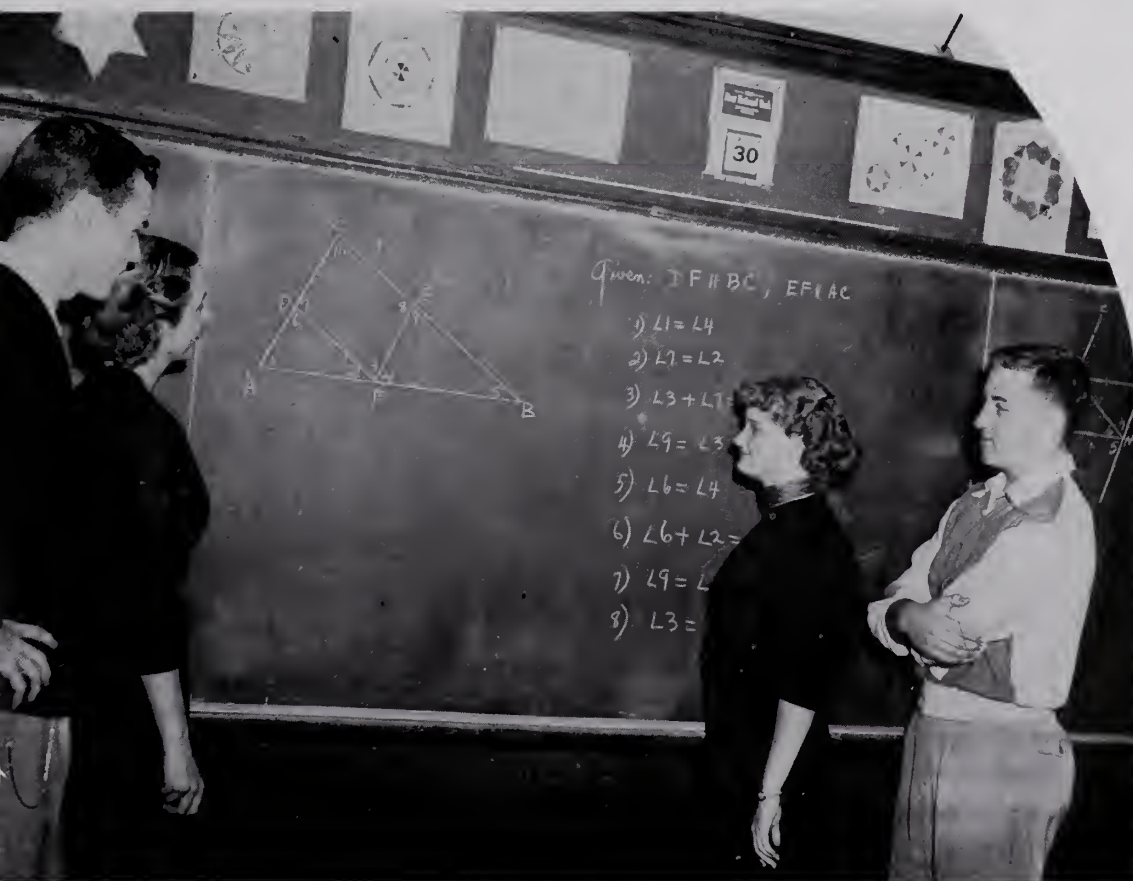

And to Utilize Them,

FUTURE PHYSICISTS learn the laws of resultant forces in their physics class. They cover an extensive course during the year, including units on light, heat, sound, and electricity.

GIVEN AND TO PROVE . . . Let's leave it to these plane geometry students as they study parallel lines. This course is as far as most pupils go, although some do venture into solid geometry and trigonometry.

To Grow Culturally

YOU MAY BE sure that all these tones are pear-shaped because these students are taught the correct way to sing, music appreciation, and the basics in musical theory.

WITH PENCIL and brush Faye Epstein and Renee Lampros attempt to recapture some of Nature's beauty.

CAREFUL OF the eighth note," says Mr. Elmer Cogan to a clarinetist, as the wind section of a band class rehearses a particular selection. In this class students learn the essentials of instrumental music and prepare for public performances.

And Physically,

FIVE more feet to the top. . . . Boys are required to climb the rope as part of the physical education program.

SAFETY is necessary in these days when automobile accidents are so prevalent; therefore, the school strives to promote careful driving by training the pupils to handle an automobile.

NO DANGER of falling with the steady hand of Miss Lillian Seats. Each girl waits her turn to perform on the side-horse. This is just one of the ways girls are taught to build strong bodies.

And to Become Skilled

WHAT MAKES a car tick is the problem being studied by these boys in their auto mechanics class. Actual practice on automobiles is given each student in this course.

SMOOTHNESS AND polish await this table which is being sanded in the woodshop. The techniques of using woods are taught to future carpenters in this class.

SHIP DESIGNERS? No, just one of the drafting classes in our school. Although eighth grade boys are required to take ten weeks of this course, it is also open to upperclassmen as an elective.

In Handicrafts

NEEDLES AND PINS are employed to good advantage by the girls who are taking home management. The proper ways to care for homes, children, and the sick are only parts of this practical course.

EVENING UP A HEM for a student, Miss Mary Ankeney is daily involved in bows, bastings, and buttons; for she is one of the sewing instructors. All girls in NNHS are required to take one semester of this course.

"SHALL we eat what we have cooked?" This might well be the question on the lips of these cooking students. These classes are geared to modern living; in them, girls learn not only the correct way to prepare a meal but also how to serve it and how to be a gracious hostess.

These Are the Things

COMMERCIAL STUDENTS LEARN typing and shorthand in order to become efficient stenographers. There are also students who enroll in these courses to acquire the skills for personal use.

BALANCE THE LEFT column—Oh well! Bookkeeping students know the correct way to handle mathematical figures. In this course they are prepared for responsible future jobs.

He Had Dreamed In 1607

"CHARGE!" SAYS Robert Scull, who is busily employed in making batteries at the shop of a local manufacturer. This is a part of the earn as you learn which is utilized in the diversified occupation department.

GOOD JOBS are surely in store for these distributive education students; for they are taught through practical experience just how to please the customer.

In the Junior Year

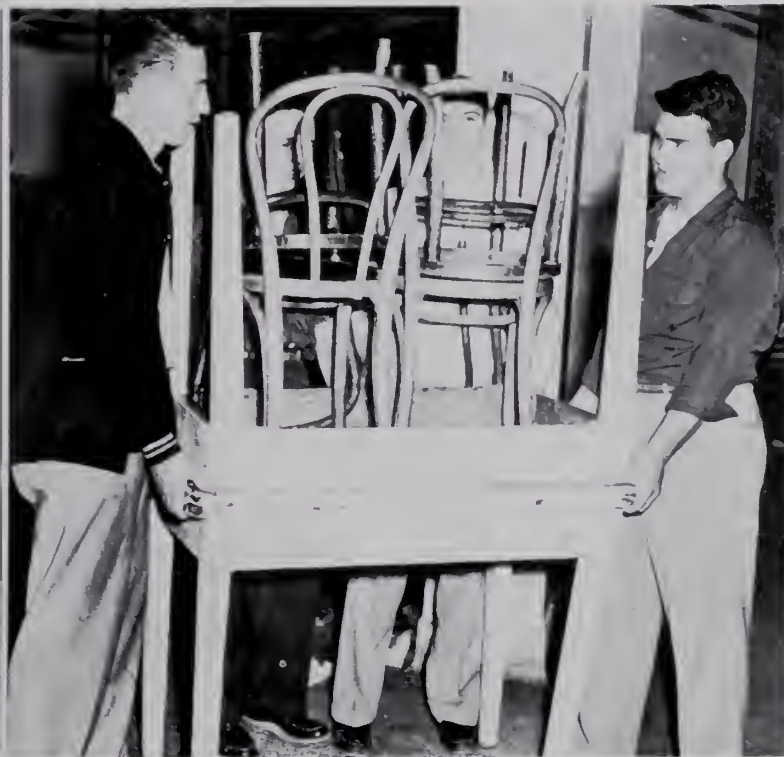

BUSY JUNIOR officers take time out to relax near the Newport News Shipyard. Perhaps they are commenting on the contrast between the small ship in which Captain Newport crossed the ocean and the trans-oceanic super-liners of today. They are, kneeling: Jane Peirce, secretary; Barbara Peach, honor council representative; standing: Ralph Whitley, president; Helen Cousoulos, executive board representative; Ronald Jenkins, vice-president.

GIRLS DON'T usually run for student body president, but Martha Robeson has her eye on the office as she adjusts one of her many campaign posters.

They Cultivate

IT TAKES work to give a good dance so here are some of the junior boys with the help of their sponsor, Mr. J. C. Range, clearing out the cafeteria for their Spring Prom.

IT'S SURE no one will recognize the cafeteria after Myrtle Sisson and Junior Class sponsor, Miss Patsy Dale, finish decorating with ivy and spring flowers.

THE RESULTS of all the hard work is a fine time for all. Here the dancers enjoy the music of the "Starliners."

This Senior Class

Pays Recognition To . . .

MISS DOROTHY M. CRANE

Dedication

It is with great pride that we pay honor to a person who has helped raise the school standards and has been continually devoted to keeping them high. She has served the school well, but it is not for this reason alone that we give her recognition.

It is for her undying love of her work and the joy and generosity with which she imparts her knowledge.

It is for the hours she has spent in broadening the horizons of many individual students.

Her devotion to duty is excelled only by her love of people.

We, the class of June 1952, owe much to a grand trouper, and it is with this fact in mind that we dedicate our yearbook to Miss Dorothy M. Crane.

Follows the Leadership of . . .

THE SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Carl Jett, president; Sidney Barham, vice-president; Shirley Fowler, secretary; Bobby Seward, treasurer; Marilyn Parker, honor council representative. Seated in an old boat similar to those used by the leaders of a small colony, which has evolved into a great nation, the leaders of the senior class prepare to enter life with the hope that they may increase the greatness of their nation.

SOME OF the busiest people around school are senior committee chairmen. It is their duty to see that all senior activities run smoothly.

Kneeling: Betty Buckingham, Betty Derr, Elaine Diamonstein.

Standing: Virginia Janes, Rita Bramberg, Kitty Christian, Sondra Erlach, Suzanne Roberts, Larry Crum, Barbara Jarrett.

Gives Reward

BEST LOOKING, Ted Hoffman and Barbara Jarrett, would be a treat to any eyes, even those of a seventeenth century man like Captain Newport.

AS THEY pause at the monument to those who achieved for our nation its present prosperity, Billy McKenzie and Kitty Christian, best all around pair, realize that many good traits of many individuals are needed for such achievement.

THE HALL OF FAME

JESTING again perhaps—nevertheless, Randolph Dale and Janice Smith, wittiest pair, vow that they see Captain Newport sailing towards Jamestown.

NOT AS fancy as seventeenth century costumes, but a great deal more comfortable, are the outfits of Renee Lampros and Bobby Wright, the best dressed seniors.

MOST POPULAR, Bill Leggette and Millie Padgett, take a few moments to relax in the environs which Captain Newport once knew.

And Glory to . . .

CAPTAIN NEWPORT gets an idea of the ability of most athletic girl, Jean Ward, as she boosts Bill Castelow, most athletic boy, to the top of Captain John Smith's monument.

BEST STUDENTS, Betty Waite Kelly and Alvin Fox, make a survey of landmarks such as the old church at Jamestown.

THE HALL OF FAME

SEATED ON the old wishing well, Peggy Pietros and Dickie Gage, most talented, may be wishing that their talents will reward them with success in life.

NANCY SPANGLER and James Stratton, best dancers, take Captain Newport back more than 300 years as they try to catch the spirit of an Indian dance around the statue of Pocahontas.

PERHAPS THIS scene of the first church service held at Jamestown depicted on this shrine is a familiar one to Captain Newport. At any rate, Ann Timberlake and Sidney Barham, most likely to succeed, find it very inspirational.

Expresses Gratitude For . . .

To The Class Of June, 1952:

Watching you through the years and having some part in your growing up and graduating from high school has been a revelation and a pleasure. You have achieved many goals and developed many potentialities but this is only the beginning.

As you enter another phase of your life, whether it be a job, or homemaking, or further education, remember this — each of you can do some one thing in life better than anyone else. Find that thing and do it well.

I congratulate you on your graduation from high school and extend my good wishes for your continued success in all your undertakings.

Sincerely,

Mildred Kelly

ITS CLASS SPONSORS

To the Senior Class of June, 1952:

Why can't you all be champions in your field of endeavor? Life is a game. If you play it as your basketball team played it this year, you can win, too. Their main purpose in Roanoke was to win. They were physically strong, mentally alert, and molded as one. You Seniors, can be winners, too, by being physically fit, mentally alive, and striving hand in hand with your fellow man. Your success in life depends on these things. Use to an advantage the knowledge you have acquired here and go forward, looking towards the future. May it hold success and happiness for you. You then will be true champions and in your way will have helped make this a better world.

Carry on Champions!

Sincerely yours,

Julius Conn

The Prom, and Commencement

ON THEIR way to have one of the biggest evenings of their lives, these two seniors are off to their own prom, a just reward for five years of work.

CATCHING HIS FISH the easy way is Rogers Hamilton. This fishing booth was only one of the many attractions offered at the Senior "County Fair" dance, the proceeds of which went to the prom fund.

ROYALTY'S not immune to the mumps. Senior Monarch, Bobby Seward, is here caught in an unpleasant pose as he contemplates his misfortune.

The Senior Year Closes

"NO YANKEES in my house!" shouts Rogers Hamilton as he and his classmates rehearse "The Last Straw," one of the three Senior plays presented on class-night.

"THE PURTIEST gal I ever saw." Betty Tillman and Anne Dickenson as they appeared in Senior Assembly.

THAT LAST minute rush is typified by the Senior speakers as they make final preparation for their commencement speeches.

THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

EARLY EVERY MONDAY morning the executive board of the student council meets to discuss and decide on ways to improve our school. Here student wishes are voiced by their representatives and the board makes every effort to carry out these in accordance with faculty regulations.

STUDENT COUNCIL COMMITTEE heads, Ronnie Jenkins, kneeling; Ted Hoffman; Claude Barfield; Martha Robeson; Pat Morris; Jonzennie Mewborne; and Nancy Spangler, get together to exchange some of the problems and ideas that have confronted them during the year. These committees have sponsored and publicized mouse assembly, honor week, clean-up campaigns, dances, and other school projects.

Into Practical Use

HONOR COUNCIL: Seated: Ida Lee Thornhill, Betty Woite Kelley, Morilyn Parker, chairman; Barbara Peach, Nancy Bigger, Barbara Underwood. Standing: Tammy Keesee, Mr. J. C. Range, sponsor, Ralph Whitley.

IN A WORLD experiencing the aftermath of a terrible war and tottering on the verge of another, it is indeed heartening to know that the students at Newport News High School recognize the importance of upholding all that is just, honest, and truthful.

The honor system at Newport News High School has successfully been carried on throughout the nineteen years of its existence. This could not have been accomplished without forethought, hard work, and perseverance on the part of the students.

The establishment of an honor code and the changes, through the years, in the code, is ample proof of the way the students in our school have worked to uphold this honor system.

Every student, directly or indirectly, has a place in the honor system. It was established by the students and for the students. Today, each pupil can proudly proclaim, "Within these halls of Newport News High School, I walk with honor."

DRAWING LAYOUTS, taking pictures, and selling ads are only a few of the worries involved in producing a yearbook. The Anchor staff works from fall until spring and their labors result in The Anchor, the school annual.

Anchor executives confer on ways to improve editorial techniques.

Junior Musicians Become Proficient

Third row: Drum Major Carleton Spivey, Lelond Edmunds,

Jimmy Morgon, Stanley Friedmon, Harold London.

Fourth row: Solly Dishroom, Bobbie Jeon Phipps, Bobby Jones, James Meador, Merle Cobb.

Fifth row: June Christie, Carmen Shockleford, Cecil Miller, Charles Hunter, Eddie Lonier.

THE MINIATURE band presents a miniature concert in a big stadium. The junior band, complete with drum major, Carleton Spivey, and flagtwirlers, Joan Cabaniss, Kitty Dickens and Sherry Crossley, meet every Monday morning to polish up their repertoire. They play for junior varsity football games and participate in the annual band concert.

In Their Art Through Practice

HERE ARE the little songbirds conducted by Miss Eleanor Sherman. They rehearse three mornings a week and come up with top-notch performances at the annual musical festival. The junior songsters have added to their ranks two new accompanists, Myra Goodson and Myra Lucile Jones.

First row: Mary Jane Meadows, Ann Morris, Glendo Pickle, Evelyn Vetros, Mary Ann Sherman, Dolores Markham, Charolette Horton, Shelby Jean Rapland, Patricia Price.

SENIOR

ALL SET FOR an evening of good music is the Newport News High School senior band. Dressed in their smart blue and gold uniforms and led by their conductor Mr. Elmer Cogan, they are waiting to give the annual winter concert. This year the band participated in the district contest where they won top rating.

TO FILL THE AIR with song is the desire of the senior mixed chorus which is composed of upperclassmen. Meeting regularly for rehearsals, they practice the songs they will sing in assembly and at other school and civic functions.

PERHAPS HE is correcting an error in the tenor section; nevertheless, you may be sure the song will be sung correctly when Mr. George Marenchin, senior chorus director, is finished. This year Mr. Marenchin was ably assisted by Barbara Anderson.

Through Acting and Directing

"I DINNA ACCEPT gifts," says Lachie, a dying Scot to his ward mates and nurse, who are giving him birthday presents in an attempt to be friendly. His bad temper and gradual acceptance of his new found friends compromised the well-designed plot of the fall play, "The Hasty Heart."

FINALLY RECONCILED to his friends but realizing his inevitable death, Lachie agrees to pose for some group pictures. It is on this bittersweet note that the play closes.

Aspiring Young Dramatists

"STOP, FOUL FIEND, you'll slay the hero," screams Melody Truelove, the heroine of the spring play, to Sebastian Hardacre, the vile villain. "Because Our Hearts Are Pure" is a model of an old-fashioned melodrama played in many scenes with scant scenery.

SINGING "NO! NO! A Thousand Times, No!" Patience Pureheart defends herself against the villain. The spring play was not only a refreshing change in high school drama, but also introduced an unusual innovation in the form of audience participation.

Acquire an Appreciation

ACTORS ALONE do not make a play. They must be directed, costumed, and equipped with the necessary props. To carry on these duties are Pattie

Parker, head of make-up; Ann Lee Gay, costume head, and Myrtland Henderson, head of the property staff.

PLANS FOR the staging of all shows are made and executed by the stage crew. This industrious group of boys not only handle the production and lighting of all school theatricals but also do work for many outside organizations. Working on the spring play are Donald Eason, Larry Crum, Preston Faulk, Rogers Hamilton, Nelson Stall, and Jerry Hogge.

For the Theater

First row: Bobby Schweida, Richard Pulsifer.
Second row: Billy Krause, Lan Heidler.
Third row: Lewis Ensby, Terry Futrell.

DRESSED IN their fashionable gowns the girl ushers are always waiting to guide theater-goers to their seats, with a friendly smile and a wish that they will enjoy the event of the evening. Prepared to usher for this particular performance are Sylvia Sorenson, June Meredith, Jonzennie Mewborne, Kay Marshall, Ann Timberlake.

HERE ARE the masculine counterparts of those lovely girl ushers. These boys are always on hand to assist the girls and give any information needed.

WORKING HARD, also, to make plays a success are Darling Anderson, student director; Edith Mason, head prompter; Elaine Diamonstein, furniture staff head.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS

"LET'S HAVE a cup of tea," says Mona Webb, Mary Ann Michie, Joyce Vanni, Edith Hester, and Shirley Hubbard, officers of the Future Homemakers of America Club, as they make plans for the annual spring fashion show. This project and the Christmas Snowball are special activities sponsored by the FHA Club.

FUTURE SCIENTISTS

IN THE MIDST of a discussion on the vital scientific facts of the day are the members of the science club. In order to be admitted into this organization one must have demonstrated a real interest in science and a desire to work.

Standing: C. Becker, S. Erloch, P. Goge, Miss Susie V. Floyd, sponsor; D. Jones, R. Coplon, G. Kratsch, J. Llewellyn, C. Hogon, C. Borfield, C. Harrison, A. vonDoenhoff, R. Mosby.

FUTURE BUSINESSMEN

THESE LEADERS of tomorrow's business world are trying to decide whether the customer is always right. Through their club work many opportunities to contact and serve the public are offered them.

Seated: M. Pegrom, V. Scott, B. Derr, Miss Frances Strohecker, sponsor; A. Howard.

Standing: L. Kromer, E. Morkoff, K. Scarlett, E. Dobbins, M. Reese, L. Shelby.

Organizations Arise

NO, NOT the "Bookworm Club!" They are the library assistants who are the mainstays of our library. These girls handle incoming and outgoing books and assist in keeping the records in good order. Gathered here are:

Seated: Alice Blaytan, Irene Kalas, Nancy Tuck, Glenna Stanley.

Standing: Ruth Happe, Ann Dickenson, Mary Lou Phillips, Mary Llayd, Eusie Scaggin, Theresa Watson, Shirley Hubbard.

HANDLING varied duties of the main office is good experience for the members of the Office Assistants Club. Any student who serves in the office during his free period automatically becomes a member of the club. Busily employed here are:

Seated: Martha Rabesan, Peggy Inman, Delares Jahnsan.

First row standing: Jasie Selby, Betty Sims, Nancy Tuck, Shirley White, Antainette Themides, Elizabeth Davenport, Sally Evans, Theresa Watson.

Second row standing: Darathy Tyler, Helen Hester, Barbara Fox, Barbara Jarrett.

OFFSPRING of the parent organization, the Junior Red Cross participated in a program of entertainment for the Old Soldiers' Home.

Kneeling: Sydney Dearing, Mary Alice Price, Barbara Drucker, Anna Lee McAlwee, Glaria Kratzsch, Mary Alice Revere, Frana Cann.

Second row: Jae Buxton, Mary Ann Weaver, William Davis, Barbara Kersey, Russell Rowe, Georgia Parker, Marie Walker, Carol Woodward

Honors Are Bestowed Upon . . .

Outstanding Dramatists — The National Thespian Society meets to initiate its new members. For entrance into this honorary club one is required to do outstanding work in drama. The Newport News High School followers of Thespis are:

Standing: R. Penn, R. Bromberg, M. Friedman, J. Overton, D. Anderson, T. Chappell, B. Buckingham, W. Gwaltney, J. Meredith, J. Werblow. Seated left: E. Diamonstein, C. Becker, L. Crum, P. Parker, B. Hogge, D. Siegel, B. Drucker, C. Nochman. Seated right: S. Cutchins, M. Parker, R. Fisher, B. Duling, A. Balyton, J. Astor, P. Koskinos.

OUTSTANDING JOURNALISTS — The Quill and Scroll, which has members all over the nation, is an honorary society for high school journalists who have done outstanding work in their field. The NNHS Chapter was organized in 1929, three years after the national organization was begun by Dr. George Gallup at the University of Iowa.

OUTSTANDING SCHOLARS as well as outstanding citizens are these members of the National Honor Society. This group, which is composed of pupils outstanding in leadership, scholarship, character, and service, is nation-wide. It is indeed an honor to be counted among them.

Jasie Selby, Shirley Baldrige, Ray Caplan, Bettie Jean Jones, Miss Mary Cox, Judy Marks, and Miss Jean Chombliss, adviser.

Seated: Betty Marie Buckingham, Ida Lee Thornhill, Mrs. Esther Thomas, adviser; Rita Bromberg. Standing: Sidney Barhom, Troy Chappell, Cecil Underwood.

Battled Furiously

Coach Jack Powers' Breezes are building themselves into Typhoons who will fight for the NNHS Gold and Blue in future years. This year the Baby Typhoons, led by Co-captains David Joye and Mac Langston, successfully overcame their opponents showing the same kind of determination which the senior gridsters displayed as pictured below.

Hopewell's State Champs proved one touchdown better, although the Typhoons fought bravely.

Warwick may have the best of Newport here, but later on in the game the Typhoons whipped up three touchdowns to defeat the Farmers 23 to 0.

This Crabber, on his way for a touchdown, helped hand Newport its third and worst defeat of the season at the "Turkey Day Classic."

A TYPHOON TALE

The Typhoon gridsters of Newport News made 1951 a banner year as far as playing fine football goes. The split "T," introduced the previous year by Heach Coach Pete Sachon, provided blue and gold fans with the wide open kind of football that thrills every crowd. Anytime during a game one would look for Ronnie Jenkins to break away on a seventy yard gallop or for All-Stater Bobby Pogue to latch onto a touchdown pass from Quarterback Bob Conley.

Another reason for the team's success was the sterling defensive game that the Typhoon played. Up until the disastrous Thanksgiving game with Hampton, the stout Typhoon line had held all opposition to an average of approximately 5.8 points per game. Guard Marvin Mitchell made a frequent habit of knifing through the opposition's line and breaking up plays before they could get under way.

These two factors plus tremendous team spirit, accounted for seven well earned victories and three defeats of which no one was ashamed.

Tommy Frank, Ronnie Jenkins, and Marvin Mitchell copped the season's top laurels. The Julian Gordon Trophy and the Peninsula Sports Club Certificates for the best back and lineman went to these three boys, respectively.

THE FIGHT OF FIVE

The NNHS basketball five whirled through a 15 wins, 3 losses season which they proudly crowned by winning the state title for their second successive year. Peppy Buddy Ballard displayed his unending energy and he and Captain Bill Castelow walked off with the trophies for the season's best defensive players. Bob Conley took double honors by being elected Captain of the '53 squad, and also by taking the most-valuable-player trophy.

The team motto, "All for One and One for All," was the big incentive which inspired the team to play those fast and thrilling games.

The real secret of success, however, was the top flight team work and spirit which were real driving forces behind a triumphant season.

"NOT THIS time," says Buddy Ballard, as he prevents South Norfolk from making two points.

THE BALL is up and away as Bob Conley attempts a basket at that same South Norfolk game.

ONLY A few more inches to a goal for Bill Castelow. This game was a thriller because of the stiff rivalry between the two schools.

DEFEAT FOR the Crabbers was the result of this fight-filled game between NNHS and their friendly neighbors.

WHO HAS that ball? That's the cry at the first game between the Granby Comets and the Typhoons.

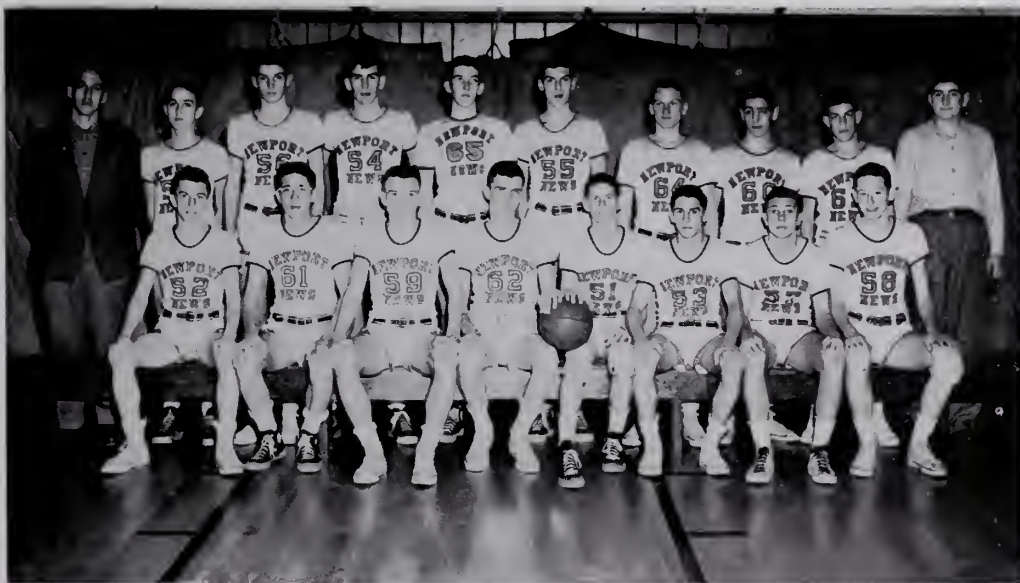

NOT QUITE fast enough was this Granby player in a shot for a basket.

The '52 season saw the Newport News Jay-Vees battle through a sixteen game season with only three losses. Fight and spirit was outstanding mark of the little Typoons, and we may be sure that they will be the future varsity stars.

Hail the Triumphant Team

OPENING NIGHT of the 1952 State Basketball Tournament presented an array of excited spectators who saw Newport News High School begin the three-day climb to its second consecutive State Championship.

THAT NIGHT SAW the unseated Typhoons battle to a 53-39 win over fourth ceded John Marshall High School of Richmond, Virginia.

Following this victory, the semi-finals on the second night found the Conn-men paired with Thomas Jefferson of Richmond. This game resulted in a 50-49 victory for Newport.

That Again Brought Home the Crown

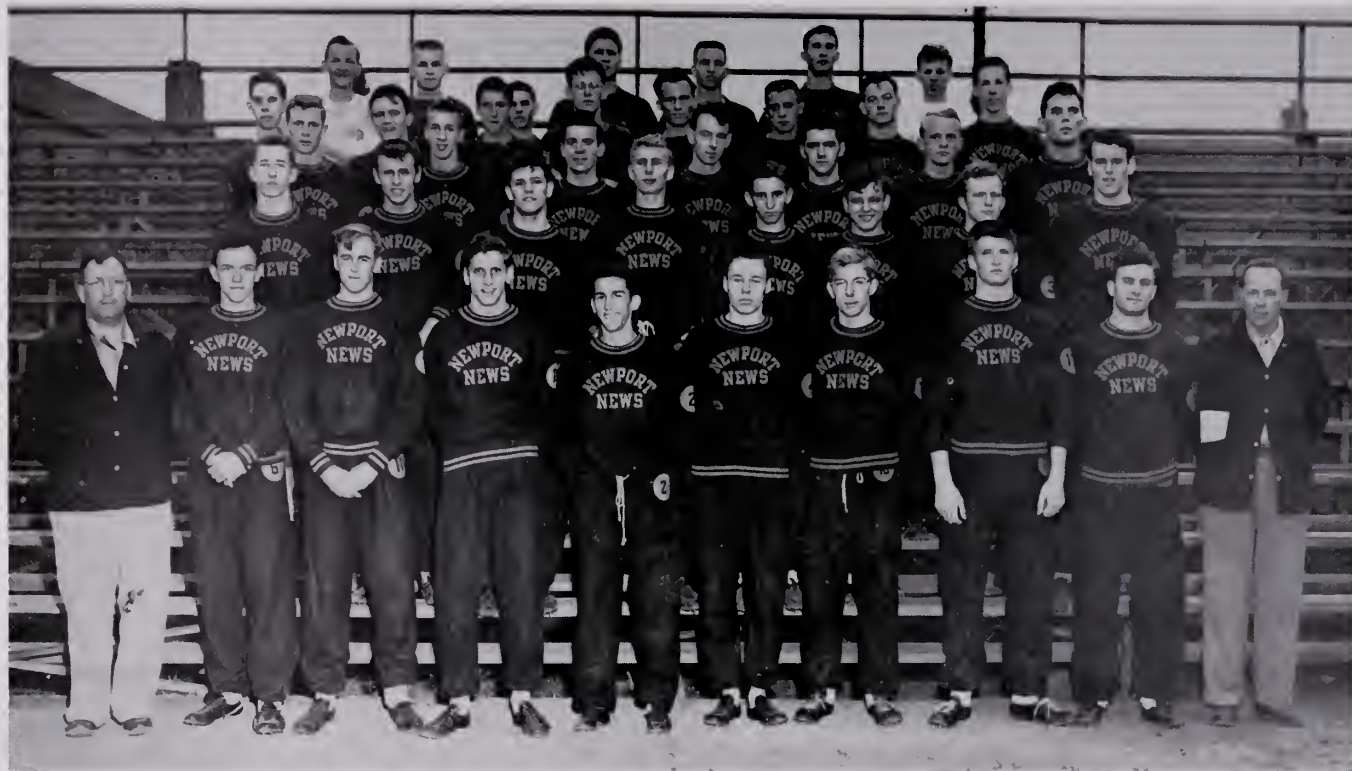

THE CLIMAX was reached on the last night of the tournament. Coach Julie Conn demonstrated his usual excitable temperament by shouting and urging his boys on to defeat Arlington 55 to 37.

ON MARCH 15, in Roanoke, Virginia, the battling Typhoons copped the State Crown for the second year. The locals displayed the same fighting form which gave them the previous season's victory. From the opening of the tournament, the Typhoons were bound for glory; and true to form they came through three tough games to an ultimate and decisive victory.

 Fifth Row: Mgr. Wolfley, Walker, Nesbit Folk, Morrison, Sterling, Mgr. Keornen.
 Cooch Julie Conn, Co-Coptoins Donald Long ond Millord Thomos, Coach Louis Plummer.

Typhoon Tracksters paved their road with good records during the past season. Retaining the Eastern District Championship, they entered the Penn relays under the fine sportsmanship of Thomas Weymouth and the relay team.

Saunders Stadium saw Donald Long make and break records for the pole vault and the high jump events. Long also smashed the state pole vault high by crossing the bar at 12 feet 6 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Millard Thomas added spark and team spirit to the boys, and a general cooperative attitude and team loyalty helped make this year a successful one for the tracksters.

Ran a Good Race

In competition at the Tidewater Track meet, Donald Long sets a new high record in the pole vault.

Out in front in the mile race is Tommy Weymouth, who placed third in this event.

There goes Donald Long taking another first place. This time it was for the broad jump.

With a mighty heave Glenn Crockett hurls the discus to give Newport News a third place rating in this section of the track meet.

COACHES JACK POWERS AND PETE ROBINSON
CAPTAIN RANDOLPH DALE

ALTHOUGH THE Typhoon nine had some tough breaks at the opening of the season, they successfully overcame them to fight on to a fine season. Pitcher Bob Conley hurt his arm during the opening game and the Newport team had an insecure infield for the first few games. However, these obstacles only provided a challenge to the team and by mid-season the boys were going strong.

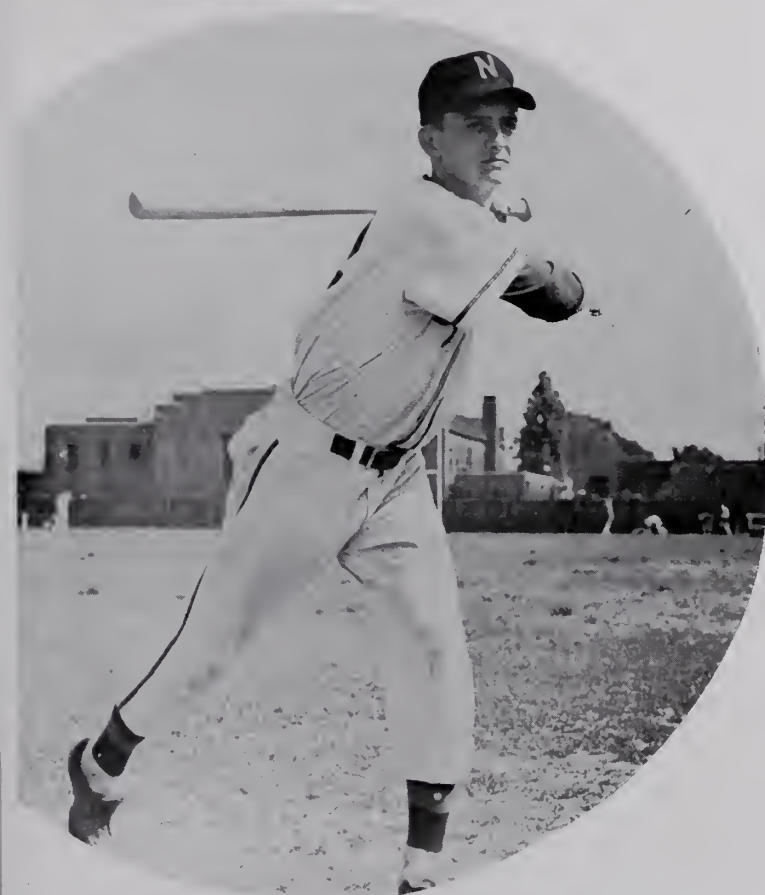

Randolph Dale displayed the fighting energy which typified the whole team during the opening game with Smithfield which brought a 17 to 3 victory for Newport.

Throughout the season the boys played as a team; and although there were outstanding players such as Bob Conley, Cary Grant, Stewart Rodgers, and Randolph Dale, the most distinguishing feature about this year's team was the unity of spirit which they exhibited at all times.

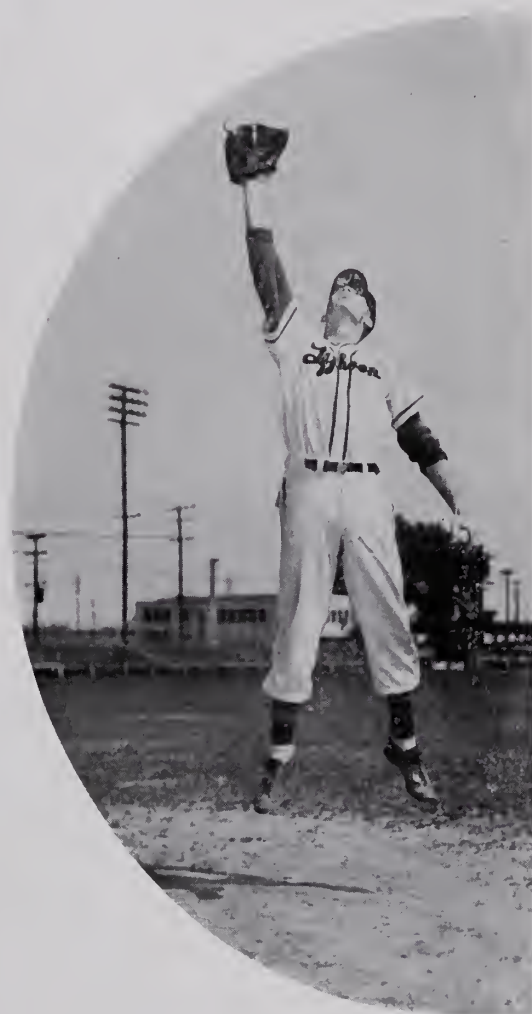

Line Drive To Success

WITH PITCHES like this, Bob Conley proved to be an important man on the Typhoon squad this season.

"SLAMMING Cecil Underwood" prepares to hit a home run.

"CATCH THAT fly, Carl Jett." Outfield action such as this produced excitement for the fans.

ALTHOUGH every girl in school participates in the physical education program, a club for those keenly interested in girls' athletics has been organized. Here are the leaders of this group gathered to discuss club business.

Seated: Jeanne Ward, president; Miss Virginia Stidman, sponsor; Kitty Christian, vice-president.

Standing: Betty Sims, recording secretary; Shirley Hubbard, roll secretary.

Also Learn to Enjoy Sports

TO MAKE SURE that the girls know the correct rules and to prevent unnecessary injury, Miss Lilian Seats explains the procedures of a hockey game. The girls put into practice what they have learned in the classroom by participating in intramural hockey games which are played in the fall semester.

WINTER FINDS the girls indoors developing agility on the mats and exercise bars.

After Much Hard Training, the Girls

AS PART OF the extensive physical education program, students are taught the fundamentals of acrobatics. This exercise, the wand drill, develops leg and arm strength as well as a good sense of balance.

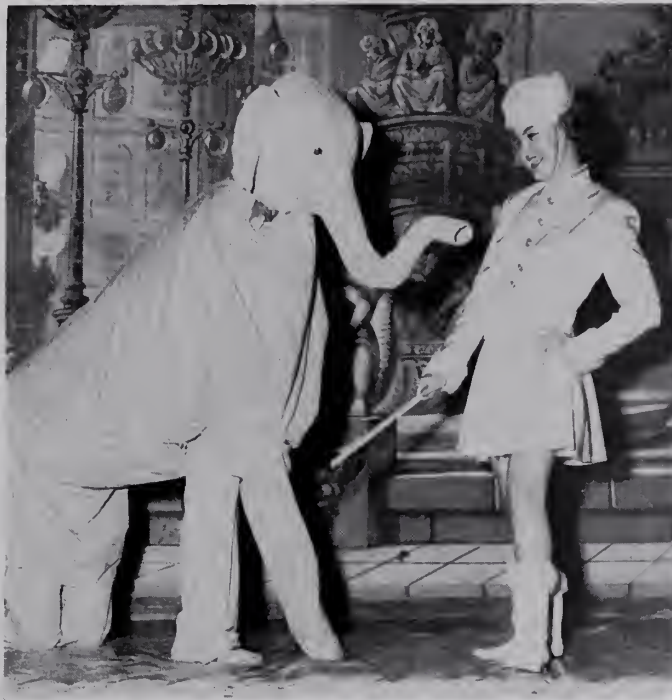

DURING BASKETBALL season the girls engage in regular games. Here Miss Lillian Seats referees a jump ball between the gold and blue teams.

PRACTICING SHOTS to improve their aim is just one feature of preparation for a game.

Have Their Chance on the Stage

A GYM SHOW was initiated this year by the girls' gym department. Entitled "Big Top," the show had a circus theme. Included were dance routines, both group and solo; acrobatic exhibitions, and novelty numbers. Since the show was so well received, it is hoped that the event will become an annual one.

Memories of a Lifetime

VII SCHOOL LIFE

Sondra Erlačh

Are in the Making

As We Enjoy Knowing

"FOR HEALTH'S SAKE" is the motto of the Newport News High School cafeteria. These students are purchasing one of the many appetizing lunches served here daily.

DISCUSSING LAST NIGHT'S game, or just topics in general, these students gather in the halls for a bull session which has become a vital part of the school scene.

NNHS OBSERVED Clean-up Week this year in order to keep our school neater. As part of this drive the student council sponsored a clean-up poster contest.

ONE OF THE most important rooms in the school is the library. Here more than 400 students a day enjoy facilities for reading, reference, or just browsing.

And Working "With Others,

COUNTRY GIRLS? No! These are just our varsity cheerleaders performing one of their stunts at the pep assembly for the Warwick game.

"I SPEAK FOR democracy," says David Falk, a contestant in the annual oratorical contest, which was held just after Christmas this year.

THESE PRETTY chambermaids are hanging clean words on the line as a part of the "Watch Your Words" campaign held by the student council to promote better speech.

As We Form Friendships, and

"YOU'RE TOO KIND, Sir," says this lovely lady to her handsome escort at the Masquerade Ball held in October.

FULL OF LIFE are these guest cheerleaders who lead the student body in several yells at the Hampton pep assembly.

SANTA WISHES a Merry Christmas to all as he goes back up the chimney at the annual Christmas assembly held at Christmas.

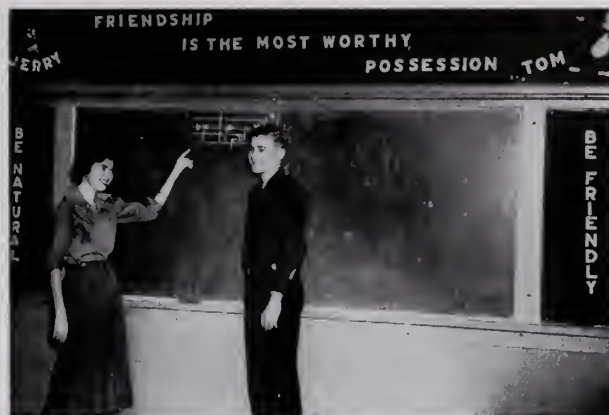

DAISY MAE and Li'l Abner in the persons of two of our high school students dropped in on the Masquerade Ball.

As We Participate in the Fun

VISIONS OF CHRISTMAS gifts dance in these girls' heads as they rush to see what Santa has left them during the Christmas assembly.

B NATURAL, B friendly was the slogan of this year's friendly Typhoon week. This campaign is held annually to promote better relations not only among the students but among the neighboring schools.

"LET'S CRUSH the Crabbers" is the energetic cry of these athletic young ladies as they perform a skit at the Hampton pep assembly.

WITH A BIG smile and a lively step these girls make their try for a place on the senior assembly program.

THE PROUD emblem of a Senior, the ring.

As Well As the Work of

"I CAME UP in English, but . . . " says Barbara Duling as she and Ronnie Williams examine their report cards.

AFTER FIVE long years this senior finally receives her pennant.

WITH JUNE comes examination time and worries for students and teachers.

High School Life

HOPING THAT the best man may win, the candidates for school offices gather in the hall just before making campaign speeches.

THE RIGHT to vote is exercised by all students. This girl checks the list to be sure she has picked the best candidates.

HERE ARE the victors! Elected by a popular vote to lead next year's student government are Larry Armstrong, president; Ronald Jenkins, vice-president, and Nancy Morris, secretary.

These Are Some of the Things

THIS IS THE way we start our day. The special bus which arrives just before the late bell each morning is a familiar sight.

AT ASSEMBLY the whole school gets together to enjoy discussions and formal programs.

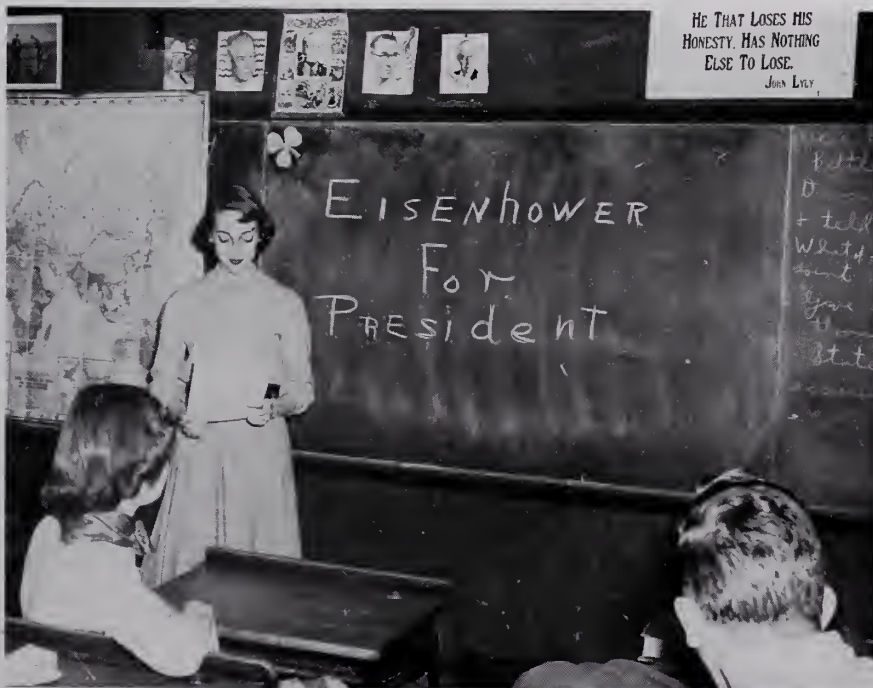

That We Will Always Recall

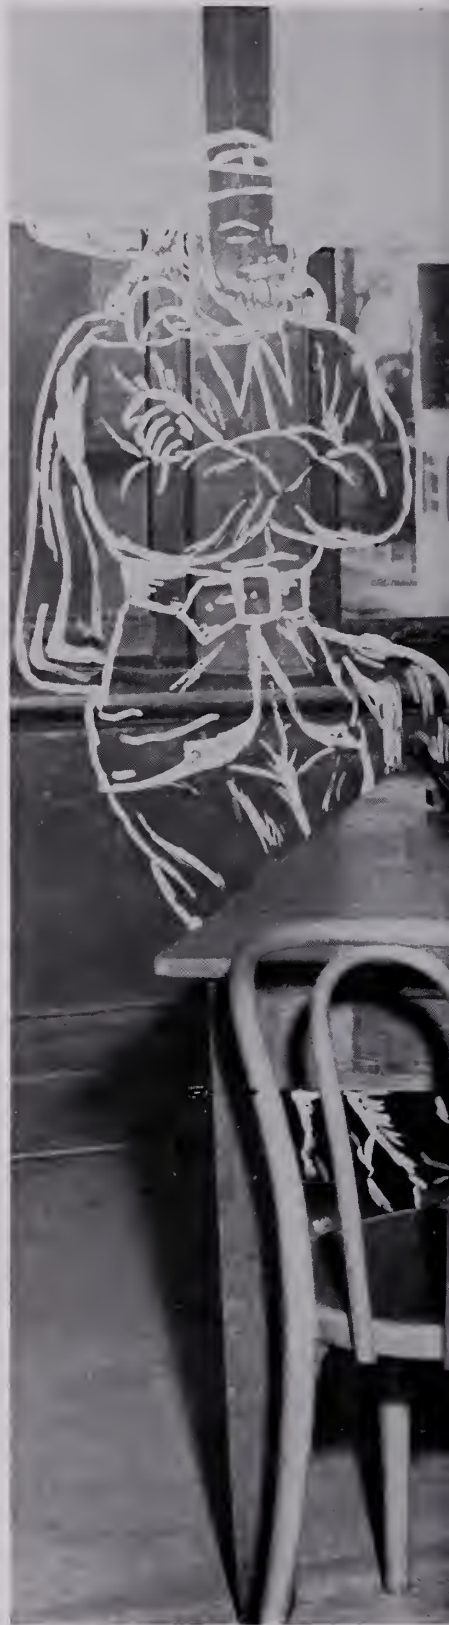

NOT A stitch will be dropped by these "expert knitters" who are following the fad of knitting socks for their fathers and boy friends.

"AND THEN Aeneas landed in Rome," says Francis Hull as he explains a part of the Latin exhibit held in April during Latin week.

A MOCK presidential election was conducted by government students during the spring semester.

A CREED FOR AMERICAN YOUTH

I resolve to let no time or opportunities slip unused by me; that in small things I will strive to do the best that I can in order that the big opportunities of the future will find me qualified. I realize that my future is an enlargement of the present. What I do in my high school years will make me stronger in character that I may help to make a stronger America.
